

Privacy Policy

Privacy Policy - "Gummygam Ltd".

Gummygam Ltd. specializes in providing interactive solutions for the digital world and design. We offer a diverse range of marketing solutions tailored to the product and visual language needs of large companies, advertising agencies, and businesses. These solutions encompass interactive presentations, promotional videos, website development, landing pages, advertising banners, branding processes for companies, and marketing media design.

At Gummygam Ltd., we respect the privacy of our website visitors. These terms will inform you of our privacy policy as it pertains to our website. This document outlines how Gummygam Ltd. uses information provided by users on the website or collected during website usage.

To obtain further information about our company and/or the services we provide, registration is required. During registration, we request your full name, email address, and phone number. You are not obligated to provide this information; however, failure to do so may hinder our ability to establish contact and deliver requested information.

Gummygam Ltd. may periodically send you email communications regarding its services, marketing materials, and promotions. You can opt out of receiving such information at any time. However, Gummygam Ltd. will not disclose your personal information to advertisers or any third party. Additionally, the information you provide on the website may be used by Gummygam Ltd. for the purpose of maintaining contact and sharing professional content periodically.

Gummygam Ltd. utilizes various companies to provide statistical analysis of website usage. These companies collect and analyze data regarding the volume of website usage, frequency of usage, user access sources, and similar information. The collected information is statistical in nature and does not personally identify you. It is intended for analysis, research, and monitoring purposes.

If you wish to inquire about or have your existing information removed, or if you do not wish to receive communications or newsletters from Gummygam Ltd., please contact us via email at info@gummygam.com and request removal from our database and mailing list.